Plans for West Penn's Big Cheat River Power Project Are Approved

federal Commission Grants Preliminary Permit to Proceed With Work.

ILL. COST $80,000,000

Include the Construction of Series of 11 Reservoirs and Generating Station of 600,000 Horsepower; Will Serve as Means of Flood Control.

Development by Pittsburgh capital a vast water power project on the West river, West Virginia, is apparently assured by the Federal power commission's approval of the plans of West Virginia Power & Trans- portation Company, announced yesterday, as T. A. Flanigan, Washington representative of the Pittsburgh Post.

A preliminary permit, running for six years, has been granted the company, a subsidiary of the West Penn Power Company, to proceed with the construction of series of 11 reservoirs and other operations which, in its completion, will involve an expenditure estimated at $80,000,000.

It will be the largest water power project undertaken in this part of the country, and will produce 600,000 horsepower for the company's purposes, chiefly the supplying of power to Western Pennsylvania consumers.

It will completely develop the river possibilities of the Cheat river.

It will be of great benefit to navigation on the Monongahela river, the commission declared.

SEVERAL CLERGYMEN TO PARTICIPATE IN CORNER-STONE LAYING

An event of wide interest will be the cornerstone ceremony to be held at 3 o'clock this Sunday afternoon at the corner-stone laying of the new First Methodist Episcopal Church, South Pittsburgh street, next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This important undertaking has gone forward steadily and surely, though not hastily, for almost two years. The exercises will be under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. Dr. Henry W. Hutchinson, assisted by several clergymen. The important address of the day will be delivered by Bishop John W. Hamilton of Washington, D. C., formerly chancellor of the American University.

Bishop Hamilton possesses a stentorian voice, well adapted to open air speaking, and has probably attended more funerals of the kind than any bishop on the board of bishops.

The stone will be of Indiana limestone, especially prepared in Pittsburgh, and will be delivered by truck this week.

The various contractors are now prepared to push the work on the building rapidly until the walls are completed and the structure under roof. The trustees have been fortunate in the high grade of material and workmanship that has gone into the building. It will be one of the very best and most beautiful structures for church purposes in the southwestern part of the State.

NORTH UNION STUDENT TESTS ON SATURDAY

DUNBAR, May 17.—The 103 eighth grade pupils of the North Union Township schools will be given examinations for promotion to the high school at the high school building Saturday, May 19. The examinations will begin at 9 o'clock. The excellent work done in the schools this year justifies the prediction that a very large per cent of the applicants will be successful.

The seventh grade pupils, of whom there are 210, will be examined Thursday, May 21. For this examination the township has been divided into three districts. Those in the eastern district will be examined at Ligonier, those in the middle section, at Fairground; those in the western section at Lure. The examinations will be conducted by the eighth grade teachers, and will begin promptly at 9 o'clock.

The total enrollment of the township, not including the parochial schools, is 3,132—the largest in the history of the township.

Insurance Writers' Convention Will Be Held at Later Date

The convention of the Fayette county branch of the Insurance Federation of Pennsylvania, to have been held today at the Pleasant Valley Country Club, has been postponed indefinitely. The postponement was necessary because of repairs now being made at the club house and the affair will be held at the same place later.

Insurance writers from all over the county are expected to attend and the local members of the county branch will be hosts.

Medical Detachment Inspection Tonight

The Medical Detachment will be inspected again this evening at the State Armory starting at 7:30 o'clock. It is hoped that every member of the Howitz Company will hold its regular drill at the Armory this evening at 7:30 o'clock.

Legion Post Is Making Plans for Memorial Sunday

Considerable business was transacted last night at a meeting of the Million Legion Post, No. 301, The American Legion. The Grays' Endowment Fund, for keeping the graves of soldiers who fell in foreign lands fresh, was completed. It totals $250 and will be sent to national headquarters at once.

Plans for Memorial exercises to be held Sunday, May 27, were reported and a good turnout of members on Memorial Day to participate in the parade, was requested. The grave markers have been received and a committee will place them the latter part of the week.

An acknowledgment of the request for rifles for a firing squad has been received and it is believed the guns will be here by May 30.

The picale committee reported it had not yet selected a place for the outing but had received offers from four parks, they being Oakfield, Shady Grove, Olympia and Kennywood.

The post is making arrangements to show the "Man Without A Country" during the next month the moving picture "A Man Without A Country." The American Legion has a five year lease on the copyright.

ENCOURAGING HOME BUILDING.
The efforts that are being made to improve Leisering avenue, and all other streets or portions of them where the property owners or a majority of them have signified their desire to have improvements made, ought to have every form of encouragement and aid the City Council can give. This applies to sewerage as well as to paving, and particularly in cases where property owners are ready to finance the undertakings and wait until some future time for the city to take over the improvements as part of the city's system.

The city is not at this time in a position to undertake many of the sewerage extensions or paving projects needed in various parts of the city. For that reason those property owners who are deprived of these advantages and who are willing that they should be made and are ready to bear their share of the expense ought, if any preference is to be shown, to be taken care of before those unwilling to have improvements made.

The improvements suggested for Leisering avenue are in furtherance of what promises to be at least a partial solution of the problem of providing more homes, which is recognized as one of the very urgent needs of the time in Connellsville. Meeting this need is a prime necessity if we are to take advantage of present conditions which favor a growth of the city in proportion as the facilities for adding to our population are made available.

Those considerations are of such weight that City Council will be justified in doing its utmost to encourage every home building project, whether it be one or any number of dwellings, and in extending every possible form of aid in making street improvements and sewerage systems readily accessible to these new homes.

SCHOOL NEGLECT OF FARMING.

The example of the school children at Youngwood who plan to engage in some agricultural projects during the vacation season ought to be followed in other sections, not alone as a means for providing desirable employment but for the still more important object of encouraging young folks to become familiar with some of the processes connected with farming. Still another purpose it may serve to emphasize the desirability of adding instruction in agricultural subjects to the course of study in the rural schools.

If a complete and thorough analysis were made of the causes which underlie the growing movement of population from the farms to the towns it would doubtless be found that failure of our schools to equip school children for agricultural pursuits to the same extent and with as much care as they are instructed to become clerks, business men, lawyers and doctors, has very much to do with the disinclination of young folks to stay on the farms.

It must be conceded that comparatively little has been done or is being done to popularize farming as one of the great pursuits, and, outside of the higher institutions of learning and the agricultural extension and farm bureau work, little is being done by local agencies and the common schools to impart instruction in the fundamentals of the art. Neglect in this respect, or an over-emphasizing of other forms of instruction, is to an appreciable degree, responsible for the attention of young people of the country being more inclined toward other professions and callings.

Encouraging work of the kind to be undertaken at Youngwood will not itself be the means of slowing down the current of emigration from the farms, but the experiment is worth all the effort that will be required to make it one of the means of inducing school authorities to more seriously consider the now apparently over-looked opportunity in the rural schools to give instruction in farming and country life that emphasize its important demands.

Bandits Releases Frenchman on Parole

By Associated Press

PEKIN, May 17.—V. Barube, a Frenchman who was among the captives held by the Szechow bandits, has been released on parole and has arrived at Tsao Chuang with further demands from the captors for the removal of the troops. It is expected he will return to the bandit headquarters today in accordance with the promise he made on leaving.

SHANGHAI, May 17.—That the Szechow bandits will not kill their foreign captives but will hold them many weeks is the belief of General Ho Fang-Yu, Chinese military commander of the district in which the brigand's stronghold is located, according to direct advices received here today by the Associated Press.

General Ho's statement follows:

"My troops had the bandits surrounded shortly after their raid on the Shantai-Pekin express. If foreign officials had not interfered I would have told the outlaws if a single foreigner were injured I would cut off the heads of every one of the brigands down in the last man of the 1,000 that composed their band."

"They know me and they know I would keep my word. Consequently I am sure they would have released the foreign captives."

"However, the foreign officials obliged me to withdraw my troops and the bandits have escaped back into the mountains whether it is almost impossible to follow them. They will not kill the captives but I believe they will hold them many weeks."

Confirmation was received today of the previous reports that the Szechow bandits had killed three of the Chinese prisoners by hurling them over a cliff.

She Feels So Good Since She Began Taking Dr. Carey's Marshroot Prescription for Kidney and Bladder

Read this extract from a very remarkable letter. My mother suffered so much from kidney trouble it hardly bothered me any longer she could hardly walk or lie down and she was so large as three bears and they were so fat and when I got up kept them all summer in a pool of water. We read in a newspaper you gave in Curves & Marshroot and after a few days of taking this big fat woman got up and went down to her own size. Her legs went down too. She feels so good when she does it. Her doctor was so pleased but since she has taken this medicine and been so much better now all taken up with Marshroot for it has saved my mother's life for her doctor said nothing could be done for her. The doctor said she would never be able to live with us. Mrs. E. C. Jones and address on back column. Patients report her when taking during the winter 1,000 cases of this remarkable prescription to which thousands who are suffering from kidney and bladder trouble, which they owe to the use of the great remedy—can testify. Testimonials from Dr. Roy H. Hertz, and all good physicians can supply you—Adviser's comment.

King Tut ankh Amen's Gew-Gaws VS Modern Conveniences

REPORTS tell us that old King Tut ankh Amen had things buried with him worth, at present day valuations, something like $40,000.00—just a few of his personal possessions that he was especially fond of, such as his jewel-mounted, gold-tired chariots and his gold and silver inlaid foot stools and couches. All of these things did he have and not a drop of running hot water for his bath!

It is probably safe to say, that old King Tut would have traded any of his cherished possessions for a modern American bath room and hot water service as we have it today. It seems probable that outside of a sponge bath at the hands of his body servants, King Tut's only bathing facilities were supplied by the waters of the Nile; subject to some crocodile failing to recognize his royal majesty and snapping a leg off.

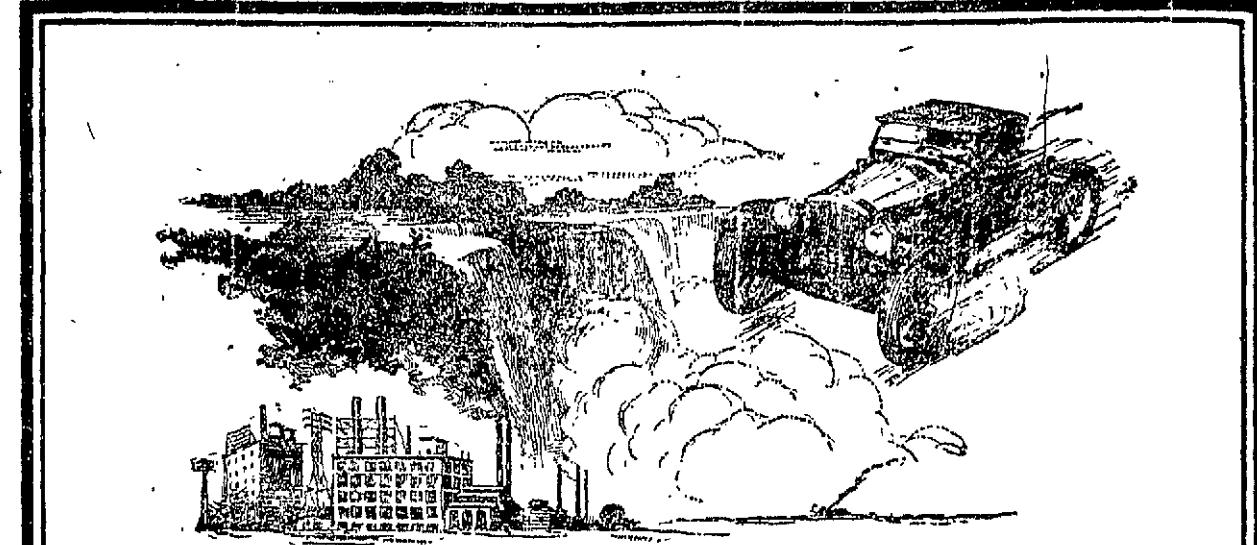

Indeed, we are ahead of old King Tut! If your bath room is not modern in every respect it's nobody's fault but your own. Our every facility is at your command.

The Search for Power

While millions of dollars are being spent in developing the power of gigantic Niagara and other water falls, millions of horse power are wasted as a result of imperfect automobile lubrication.

Why be a party to this colossal economic crime? Is it consistent to complain about the cost of power when it is being squandered with every turn of the wheels?

Begin today, in fact and in principle, with Waverly All Pennsylvania Motor Oils. They are clean, powerful and efficient, refined by Waverly exclusively from Pennsylvania paraffine crude, acknowledgedly the best in the world.

Non-acid-treated, as are asphaltic products which constitute 95% of the auto lubricant supply, Waverly Motor Oils are free from destructive chemical elements and resist thinning effect of high temperatures to the maximum.

They form a perfect film between frictioning surfaces, seal piston rings and conserve power. They circulate and splash effectively in all temperatures and resist dilution.

Of the same high standards of excellence are Waverly Auto Greases, for transmission, chassis and differential. Waverly means less repairs, more power and longer motor life.

EDWARD HUGHES IS MANAGER OF RAINIER FARM, MT. BRADDOCK

Resigns Position With Lumber Firm in West Virginia to Come.

NOTES OF FURNACE TOWN

Special to The Courier

DUNBAR, May 17.—Edward Hughes, who made such an enviable record as manager of Oakmont Farm at Pittsburgh two years ago and who resigned that position to accept a more remunerative one with a lumber firm in West Virginia, has been secured by Superintendent David Appling of the Rainier plant at Mount Braddock, to take full charge of his large farm at that place. Mr. Hughes is already in charge and rushing the spring work as rapidly as the variable weather will permit.

Mr. Appling's farm, memorable for its productivity in the days ago when owned by the Murphys, and along whose corn rows Attorney A.

E. Jones in his boyhood days hoed the weeds, will again reach and probably surpass his former record under the stimulus of modern farm methods. Mr. Hughes was reared in the Tuckerman Run district of Dunbar township, where his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Hughes, lived until a few years ago when they located at Greenfield.

Thomas Jose has secured several lots of potted sago and is laying walks and putting in concrete work at his residence on Ferguson road.

D. C. Eason, former Dunbar druggist and business man, who is making his home at Washington, Pa., where his daughter, Miss Catherine, is attending school, is spending a few days with Dunbar friends.

Ward Provance, who has had charge of David Appling's farm at Mount Braddock for the past two years, has moved his family to his home place on the hill south of Ferguson road.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Craig and family of Claiton, have returned home after spending several days with Mrs. Craig's parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Reifer at Sunnyside.

The recent plan given by the Gaddis Adult Bible Class netted about $500. Mrs. John Thorpe of Beeson Mill, who has been seriously ill for the past two months, is reported making substantial improvement.

The O. K. is an entirely practical washer for the home where space is valuable because of its tub bench. The bench, made of angle iron, folds up completely when not in use. When needed will open up and hold two tubs.

No screws to pull loose—no hinges to break. A permanent framework of galvanized steel, which is rust-resisting and gives a rigid support for washer, tubs and clothes basket. The wringer operates over washer, both tubs and clothes basket. The tub is made of kiln dried cypress (the Wood Eternal)—with smoothly cut corrugations on the sides and bottom on the inside.

The O. K. is built on time proven principals of washer designs. Peg dasher operated from the head of the machine. All working parts are guarded. There is no danger of operator's fingers or clothing coming in contact with any moving part.

The Paramount

GIMME the leading picture today at this theatre presents Helene Chadwick and Gaston Glass in the leading roles. Miss Chadwick, whose impersonation of the role of a young wife in Mr. Hughes pictures has been a rare delight, has a similar role in this one. She plays the part of Fanny Daniels, who finds herself upon her marriage to Clinton Farris the new self supporting son of moneyed parents in the humiliating though not uncommon situation of being obliged to any "Gimme" for every cent she needs, for household things as well as finery. A debt of $500 borrowed from her employer before her marriage for the purpose of buying a trousseau, is still hanging over Fanny's head, and she finally goes back to her old job in order to pay it off. But Lamberti, the employer seems to see in Fanny's indecision to him an excuse for making love to her, and then things are more complicated than ever. In desperation Fanny draws $500 on her husband's account in order to pay off the debt—and discovers later that $500 is all he had. Lamberti's attention to his wife found Clinton's jealousy in a queer follow. But, eventually, the air understandings are cleared up, there's a reconciliation and Fanny comes out victor, with the promise of a regular weekly allowance. An unusually fine supporting cast was engaged for this production including H. B. Walthall, Kate Lester, Fletcher Boardman, David Imboden, May Wallace, Georgia Woodthorpe and Jean Hope. The settings are by Cedric Gibbons, Goldwyn's art director, and the photoplay by John Mescall.

Friday and Saturday "Bing Bang Boom" will be shown.

THE FLAME OF LIFE—With Priscilla Dean in the leading role is the feature picture today Friday and Saturday at this theatre.

Miss Dean has the most gripping role of her career in the new offering. As a woman of the slavish penury unable to read or write, and possessing one work dress and one good dress will be seen in a chaotic era.

That of Mrs. Dean was never better exemplified. She reaches emotional and dramatic heights that are remarkable even for this talented actress. Her performance holds one spellbound. The entire supporting cast is excellent and was chosen with great care to insure perfect balance.

A smashing thrill in the form of a great big catastrophe. In which great tuns and shafts actually were blown up for the picture gives a twist to the climax, surprising and gripping.

Robert Lilie Wallace Beery, B. C. tree Burkhardt, Kathryn McGuire, Fred Kohler, Emmett King, Nancy Carroll, Franklin Lee, Richard Daniels and others support Miss Dean. Howard Henley directed.

Miss Beery is at her best in this picture. Never has he given a more convincing performance than he does in the role of the brutal father who hates even the faintest spark of human sympathy. It is also must be accorded Robert Lilie for his interpretation of an extremely difficult part. Kathryn McGuire will be recalled by many as the former comedy and bathful, bunt of star. Her role in this picture however is quite scintillating.

CHAPTER XIV

The Mountain Trail.

As Stewart departed from one door Florence knocked upon another; and Madeline, far shanon out of her usual serenity, admitted the cool western girl with more than gladness. Just to have her need helped Madeline to get back her balance. She was conscious of Florence's sharp scrutiny, then of a sweet, deliberate change of manner. Florence might have been burning with eagerness to know more about the bandits hidden in the house, the plans of the cowboys, the reason for Madeline's suppressed emotion; but instead of asking Madeline questions she introduced the important subject of what to take on the camping trip. For an hour they discussed the need of this and that article, selected those things most useful, and then packed them in Madeline's saddlebags.

That done, they decided to lie down, fully dressed as they were in riding-coutumes, and sleep, or at least rest, the little remaining time left before the call to saddle. Madeline turned out the light and, peeping through her window, saw dark forms standing sentinel like in the gloom. When she lay down she heard soft steps on the path. With fidelity to her swelled her heart, while the need of it pressed that fearful something which, sleep Stewart's passionate appeal to her, haunted her as inevitable.

Madeline did not expect to sleep, yet she did sleep, and it seemed to have been only a moment until Florence called her. She followed Florence outside. She could discern saddle horses being held by cowboys. There was an air of hurry and mystery about the departure. Helen, who came trotting out with Madeline's other guests, whispered that it was like an escape. She was delighted. The others were amused. To Madeline it was indeed an escape. She heard low voices, the champing of bits and thumping of hoofs, and she recognized Stewart when he led up Majesty for her to mount. Then came a patterning of soft feet and the whining of dogs. Cold noses touched her hands, and she saw the long, gray, shaggy shapes of her pack of Russian wolfhounds. That Stewart meant to let them go with her was indication of how he studied her pleasure. She loved to be out with the hounds and her horse.

Stewart led Majesty out into the darkness past a line of mounted hounds.

"Goss we're ready," he said. "I'll make the count." He went back along the line, and on the return Madeline heard him say several times, "Now, everybody ride close to the horse in front, and keep quiet till daylight." Then the snorting and pounding of the big black horse in front of her told Madeline that Stewart had mounted.

"All right, we're off," he called.

Madeline lifted Majesty's bridle and let the roan go. The trail led in a roundabout way through shallow gulches full of stone and brush washed down by floods. At every turn now Madeline expected to come upon water and the watching pack-train. But time passed, and miles of climbing, and no water or horses were met. Expectation in Madeline gave place to desire; she was hungry.

Stewart kept on. It was eight o'clock by Madeline's watch when, upon turning into a wide hollow, she saw horses grazing on sparse grass, a great pile of canvas-covered bundles, and a fire round which cowboys and two Mexican women were busy.

Madeline sat her horse and reviewed her followers as they rode up single file. Her guests were in merry mood, and they all talked at once.

"Breakfast—and rubie," called out Stewart, without economy.

For that matter, Madeline observed Helen did not show any marked contrast to the others. The hurry order did not interfere, with the real being somewhat in the nature of a picnic.

As soon as the pack-train was in readiness Stewart started it off in the lead to break trail. A heavy growth of shrub interspersed with rock and cactus covered the slopes; and now all the trail appeared to be uphill. The pack-train forged ahead, and the trailing couples grew farther apart. At noon they got out of the foothills to face the real ascent of the mountains. Stewart waited for Madeline, and as she came up he said: "We're going to have a storm. Shall I call a halt and make camp?"

"There? Oh no! What do you think best?"

"Well, if we have a good healthy thunderstorm it will be something new for your friends. I think we'd be wise to keep on the go. There's no place to make a good camp. If it rains, let it rain. The pack-train is well equipped. We will have to get wet."

"Surely," replied Madeline; and she smiled at his inference. She knew what a storm was in that country, and her guests had yet to experience one. "If it rains, let it rain."

Stewart rode on, and Madeline followed. The way led in a winding course through a matted, storm-wrenched forest of stunted trees. Even up to this elevation the desert reached with its giant hand. The clouds overspreading the sky, hiding the sun, made a welcome change. The pack-train receded, and Stewart and Madeline waited for the party to come up. Here he briefly explained to her that Don Carlos and his bunches had left the ranch some time in the night. The sky was oppressive; the horses panted. "Sure it'll be a hummer," said Stewart. "The first storm almost always is bad. I can feel it in the air."

Town Club Is Opened
Disastrously.

PAUL NINE WANTS GAMES

The Paul Tornadoes opened the season with a victory over the Trotter All-Stars, Tuesday at Trotter the final score being 5-0. The Tornadoes out classed Trotter in all departments and were exceptionally strong in the pinches. Paul Nine running by the Tornadoes was rated to the All-Stars. A rare feat was accomplished during the game when the only assist was made by the Tornado catcher none of the infielders of the out fielders getting an assist. The pitcher put himself out of a lot of trouble times when the bases were loaded by striking out the next three or two batters. He also had another unusual thing by striking one three batters.

INDEPENDENTS READY TO OPEN SEASON WITH SMITHTON SATURDAY

Connellsville baseball bugs are another group asking a favor of the weather man on Saturday. The season of the Coke Independents will begin that day with the strong Smithton aggregation as opponents. A parade headed by the Connellsville Military Band will precede the opening of the contest.

Connellsville seemingly has a wonderful team lined up this year and from the dogs will be an outfit worth supporting once it is welded together.

Of Interest to Fans.

Athletes of every school in the county are hoping the weather man will be favorable this Saturday and allow the successful completion of the first annual field meet of the Fayette County Interscholastic Athletic Association. It was postponed from last Saturday on account of rain.

The Pittsburgh Pirates lost to New York in the final game of their series yesterday 6-2. Lefty Gilmire continued his hitting streak by getting two hits off Scott, although the latter was in good form and puzzled Charley's team-mates.
